Ethan Watts

Bio (Jan. 2021)

Ethan Watts calls Westfield, Indiana home. Thanks to homeschooling, Ethan’s years have been enriched with literature, music, history, family, friends, and short trips. While his primary instrument is piano, Ethan has taught himself electric and acoustic guitar, bass, drums, and dabbled in violin, viola, pipe organ, and more.

Ethan first met Mozart while in his crib and grew to love Chopin. When he is not studying, working, or recording in his home studio, Ethan spends his time on his piano playing Chopin. One of the goals he’d like to achieve is to visit every national park in North America. He has visited 6 so far. During his downtime, Ethan enjoys a nap with his beloved Golden Retriever, Chance.

In 2019 Ethan released his first album, First, and is currently working on another to be released this Spring. He hopes to study music composition and sound engineering in college and design a career in those areas in the future.
